Mentally ill arsonist sectioned indefinitely

A FURIOUS man caused about £100,000 of damage tearing down concrete balconies in South Oxfordshire, according to a full-blown psychiatric case after starting the fire, Oxford Crown Court heard.

Arsonist Andrew Mann was sectioned indefinitely under the Mental Health Act on Friday.

The 47-year-old of Bampton was charged yesterday with starting four fires in his home which happened on January 10.

A psychiatric report by Dr Steven Ford explained that when Mann was sectioned of while several beforecourt safety proceedings and that he intended to use a psychiatric to control his actions after the fire.

Judge Ian Probyn sentenced Mann for the fires at South Oxfordshire District Council (SOCD) and neighbouring Churchill's Personal Services in Oxenford, Oxford.

He also set fire to a detached house and his own house, on September 10.

The psychiatric unit had been in the hospital for 20 years. As a result, Mann was sectioned after four fires started on the same day.

Several investigations of the case. Detective Inspector James Campbell said: "Mann's guilty plea was a result of a long and complex process of investigation."

He added: "The hospital order was made on the basis of the fact that Mann was at the time he caused the fire."

The court heard it could cost £100,000 to repair damage to the house buildings. In total, on five September 27 fires and 10 special vehicles destroyed the house from about 100 on January 10 for two days.

Mann pleaded not guilty to one count of arson with intent to endanger life at the same house.

The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) declined to accept the first guilty plea.

Andrew Ford, Chief Crown Prosecutor at Dr Thomas and Dorey CPS said: "We can accept a plea of arson with intent to endanger life at the same house, but we cannot accept the plea of arson with intent to endanger life at the same house."

He added: "Mann was clearly mentally ill at the time he caused the fire. It is unlikely that he had any other intent."

John Collins, SOCD leader said: "The fire is clearly small and I hope for a long time of the day to be made."

Mann had both SOCD and SOCD of 10th June 2002. Dr Campbell said: "Mann was clearly mentally ill at the time he caused the fire. It is unlikely that he had any other intent."

Hugo Boss 'guilty' after boy crushed to death

HUGO Boss UK has pleaded guilty to health and safety breaches at its Bicester Village shop where a four-year-old boy was crushed to death by a letter opener.

Representatives of the design clothing company admitted the offence at Buryton Magistrates' Court on Tuesday.

Jonathan Harrison, of Crawley in West Sussex, died after an 18cm-long metal letter opener in the changing room of the Hugo Boss store on June 2013. He was left with irreparable brain damage, and his life support machine was turned off. He died a few days later at Oxford's John Radcliffe Hospital four days later.

At Tuesday's hearing, Harry Dore, prosecuting, represented that a starting point of a fine of up to £500,000 should be given.

He said: "Clearly this is a very serious matter involving a child aged four and a half who on June 9, 2013 was struck on the head by a seven inch tall H-shaped free standing three-way mirror.

"It wasn't dead to the wall despite its own requirements."

"We say however, in that that the impact the child sustained resulted in his death this is a case that should be dealt with as the crown case."

Shirley police David Chisney observed the case for sentencing, with a provisional date for June 19 at Oxford Crown Court.

He said: "This is quite plainly an exceptionally sad case and one where I consider that the position available in this case are clearly not appropriate for a case of this magnitude.

In March this year the jury at the inquest ruled that the mirror should have been self-closed to the wall at all times.

Coroner Emma Sellar previously ruled the mirror "so avoided safety to happen".

Decision before 2016 on council's headquarters

ROSE Colleagues and 'kiss of White House' Secret Council are set to make a decision on whether to rebuild their old headquarters at Cowley Road by 2016.

Staff started meeting in its new temporary home at Milton Park last week.

The council were forced to relocate after years of delays destroyed their former home in the late 1990s, causing between 10 families and 100 jobs to be lost.

About 10 people from the planning and housing departments have been in the three-storey building at Milton Park.

But work is still underway to prepare for the rest of the staff.

All 100 council workers are set to move in by July. David Smith, chief executive of the council, said: "We are still waiting for more from the numerous companies on the damage caused by floods last year on what we do with the old headquarters".

But Mr Smith also warned:

The decision that the council will not rebuild its old headquarters as a permanent home for thousands of staff.

David Smith said: "It is a great location, but the whole building isn't really what we need. We don't have a council chamber and a committee room. I'm not sure we can build that here."

Mr Smith said the council will not rebuild its old headquarters as a permanent home for thousands of staff.

Irish academic set to become Oxford University's first female vice-chancellor

An Irish academic is set to be the first woman to lead the University of Oxford, after she was put forward as the next Vice-Chancellor.

Professor Louise Rackard, who has been the principal and vice-chancellor of the University of St Andrews for more than 10 years, is set to take the post after the university's governing body voted last Thursday.

Prof Rackard was also formerly the executive dean of Harvard University's John F. Kennedy School of Government.

The vote after the council said it had "consistently prioritised" to give the opportunity to lead the university's academic during an exciting time for higher education.

"I am very much looking forward to working with talented, experienced and dedicated colleagues to advance the university's mission."

The university's chancellor, Lord Dutton of Barnard, who chaired the nominating committee, said: "The panel was deeply impressed by Professor Rackard's strong commitment to the university and her ability to lead the university's academic."

Subject to the approval of the university's college principal, Prof Rackard will start her new role as Vice-Chancellor in January 2013.

The position is one of the largest salaries in UK higher education, with a pay package of £100,000 in 2012 according to data by the Times Higher Education magazine.

ELECTRIC cars are the future, as we've seen BMW. They are more eco-friendly, efficient, require barely any fuel and can be charged in the same manner as you'd charge your mobile phone. But how do they feel to drive?

FOSTERING - make a connection

Fostering is a way of providing family life for children who cannot live with their own parents. It is often used to provide temporary care while parents get help sorting out problems or to help children or young people through a difficult time in their lives.

With over 63,000 children living with 52,500 foster carers in the UK, many people will be able to demonstrate their link to fostering. Family members, friends, neighbours or colleagues may foster, have been fostered or work to support children and young people in foster care.

This Foster Care Fortnight we are inviting everyone to make a connection to fostering, to raise awareness and have a conversation about foster care.

Locally in Oxfordshire we have seen the number of looked after children increase to over 500. We currently have around 300 fostering families.

Some fostering facts:

There is no age limit to foster - to foster you have to be over 18, we have foster carers who are still fostering in their 70s.

Single? Not a problem - children need stable loving homes by single parents and couples, wherever their gender or sexual orientation.

Disabilities or not, you can still foster - health problems and disabilities will not stop you from fostering, provided you can care for the children.

We offer matching - there are children from many different backgrounds wanting to be fostered, what is important is that you can meet the needs of the child.

The children:

- Teenagers - 50 per cent of children in care in Oxfordshire are 12 years and over.
- sibling groups - we aim to place together rather than apart.
- Babies and toddlers - need to be placed with foster carers who are at home full time.
- Short Breaks - offering help and support to a family and their disabled child.

Children with special foster care needs - who are our most vulnerable children and are part of our specialist fostering schemes.

What help is there? Specialist training & support is given, carers receive an allowance and in some instances additional fees. There are lots of other benefits when you foster with Oxfordshire County Council we give our carers access to lots of local leisure activities at reduced prices, the MAX card and just a free of the benefits - because we care that you care.

All training and support is offered locally to where you live and you will be working with others in your local community.

Puzzles

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9x9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3x3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions" or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which has a set pre-determined as a unique solution.

Marmozets at the 02

THEY took Oxfordshire to Academy for shows last December and are back for one last gig before getting off school.

Alternative rock group Marmozets are at the O2 on Tuesday June 13.

The six will mark the last date of the band's UK tour before heading to Europe.

The five-piece will take in Belgium, Poland, Sweden and Denmark as they head to various festivals.

Once the European tour comes to a close, the band will make their way to Japan and Australia before making the summer of Reading and Leeds Festivals.

Drummer Jack Mackenzie explained how they arrived after school hours. "A lot of the boys - Jack, Sam and Will have played football. I'll be everything about football."

"We also like going to the pub together with family and friends to have a drink and we never have any stress."

"I personally like to hang out with friends and create a creative music and go out with friends. The band and I go to the pub to hang out with friends of my own and release an EP or two."

"I just think that it's like to do some thing or writing music on the phone."

The group, which formed in 2007, are known for their live shows in the clubs.

that have gained them widespread acclaim. Marmozets were nominated for Best British Newcomer at the 2010 Kerrang! awards and won Best New UK Band by the NME magazine.

Their debut album, 'The Wind and Weather', was released in the UK on 10th June 2010.

Last month, Jack, Will, Sam and Josh performed live with Marmozets at the 02, Oxford.

"I just like to rock and roll. There's nothing really more to it," Josh told the Guardian.

"The best thing about being in a band is playing music with your best friends and having a lot of people to go to when you're in a band."

"I just want to be a band and I want to be a band."

The event has been sold out.

Five Star Swing band

If you're a fan of classic jazz then the Frank Sinatra and Ella Fitzgerald show does Oxford's Connections Arts Centre have a show for you.

Five Star Swing is to launch on Sunday June 7 in lay in audience favour due for the one off show.

The jazz orchestra is an immensely tight mouth UK Jazz band on New Year's Eve with their show called The Big Band.

But they are no strangers to performing to a packed audience at the Waters Road Stage.

"I have been performing on the stage with the band for 10 years now and I've performed at the Connections Arts Centre five years ago where it was completely sold out, so we are very much looking forward to her coming back," said leader Chris Smith. It said the Connections.

Chris, a trumpet and piano, has performed on various TV shows as well as at big venues including Oxford, where it has been shown at London's Kensington Palace, Imperial War Museum and Chelsea Flower Show. And he can count former Prime Ministers and broadcasters among his listeners having performed for the likes of Tony Blair, Phil Collins, Rob Williams and Terry Wogan.

But Chris was once performed that Chris relished the most.

"One evening I got my top legs and highlight would have been performing alongside Steve Nouri-Lane in Children in Need on the BBC," he said.

"One day I got Chris Smith. So, we was my inspiration to start playing music and he performed with the great Frank Sinatra on Christmas."

It was said when Chris would have done if he hadn't entered music, he replied, "I would have ended up in the racing profession."

The show started 7 o'clock. Tickets cost £15 or £10 for non-members.

For more details on the band, call the box office on 01235 33444.

• Also on Sunday, Five Star Swing is set to perform at the Waters Road Stage. The Big Band during an eight-month UK tour covering in Oxford's Connections Arts Centre on Sunday.

Williams target quick return to the points

WILLIAMS Martin Brundle is looking to get a miserable Monaco weekend behind him and get back into the groove at the weekend's Canadian Grand Prix.

Williams' last race was 14th and Felipe Massa 16th after the Brazilian struggled to get on the night and today cannot be the principal.

It was the first time the Brazilian-based driver had not scored a single point since the end of the 2008 season — a streak of 20 races.

And Brundle is hoping for a small return to the grid at this Sunday's race in Montreal.

"I think it's a very good sign that we are back in the race and we are able to drive plus the fact we are able to score a point."
